The eye sees,
Commands the mind to read,
The mind understands . . .

For we read,
And we study,
And we learn;

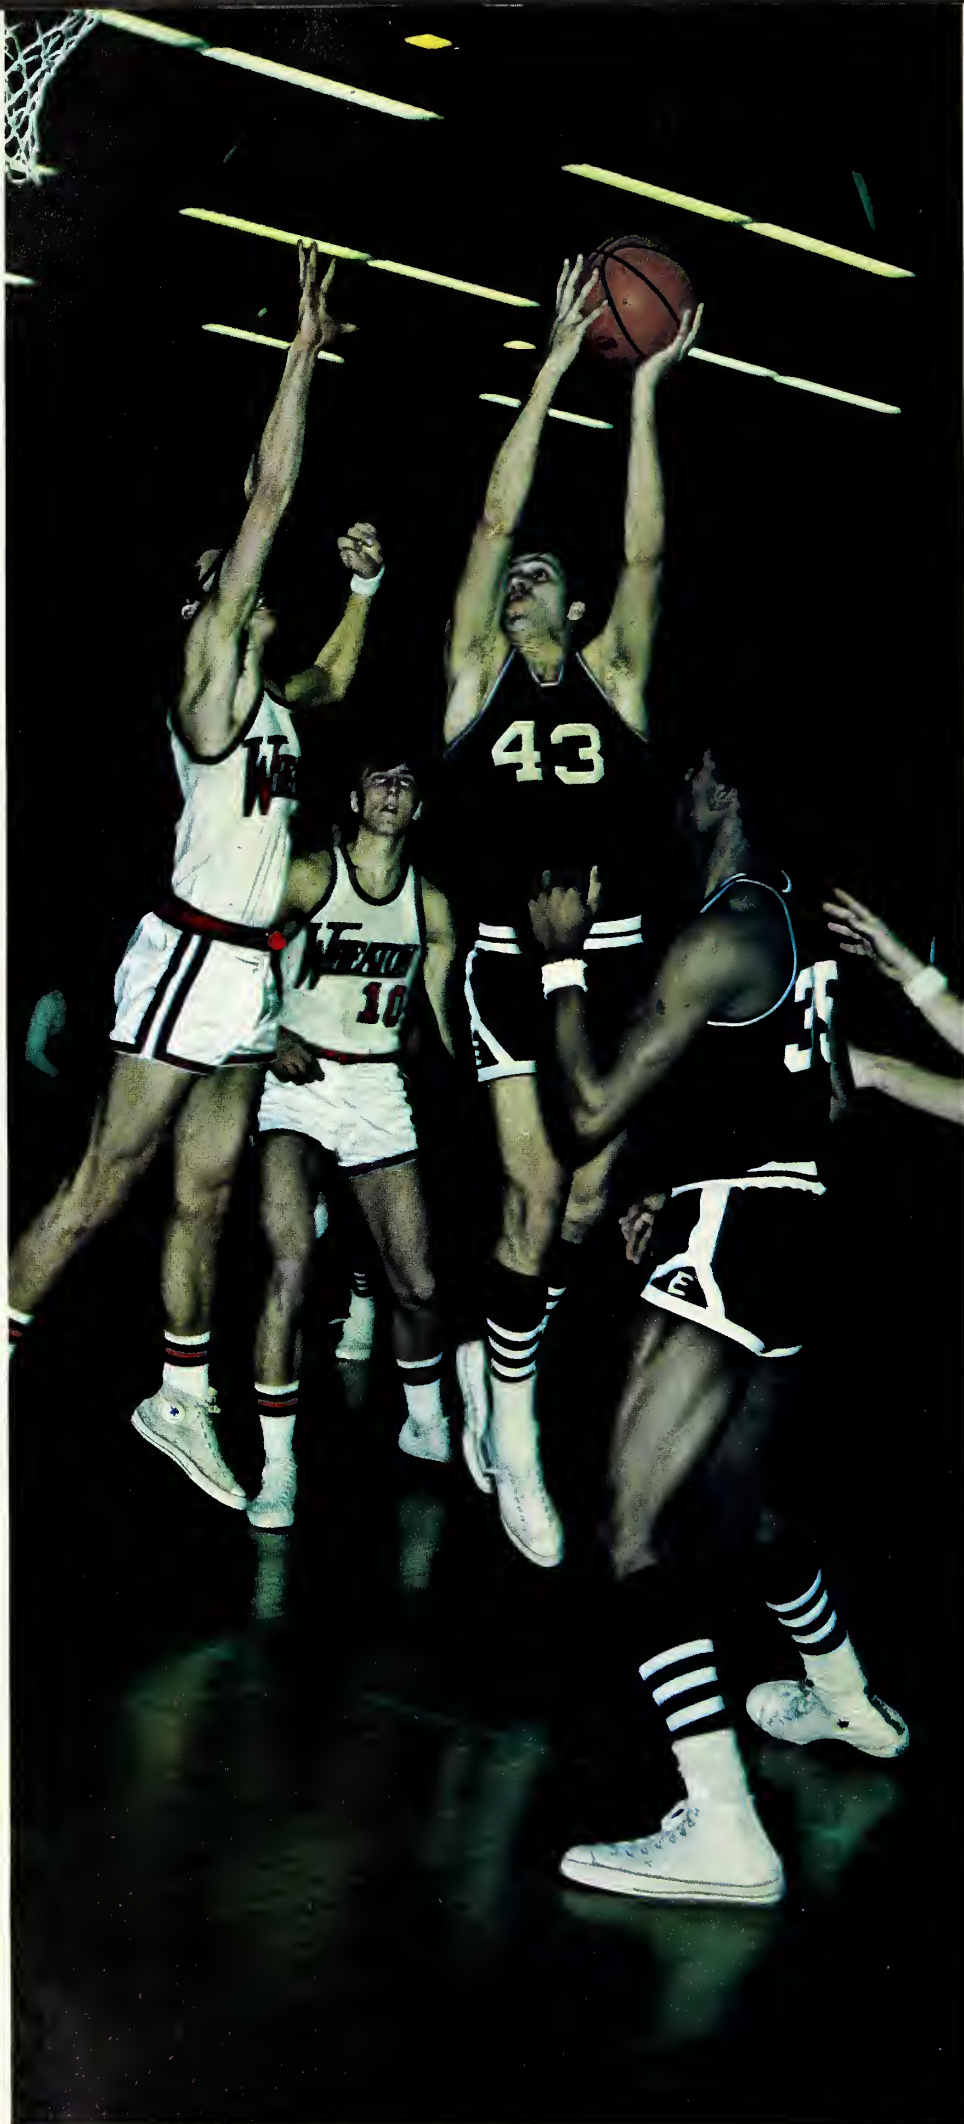

Life's stream of consciousness is a continuing classroom.

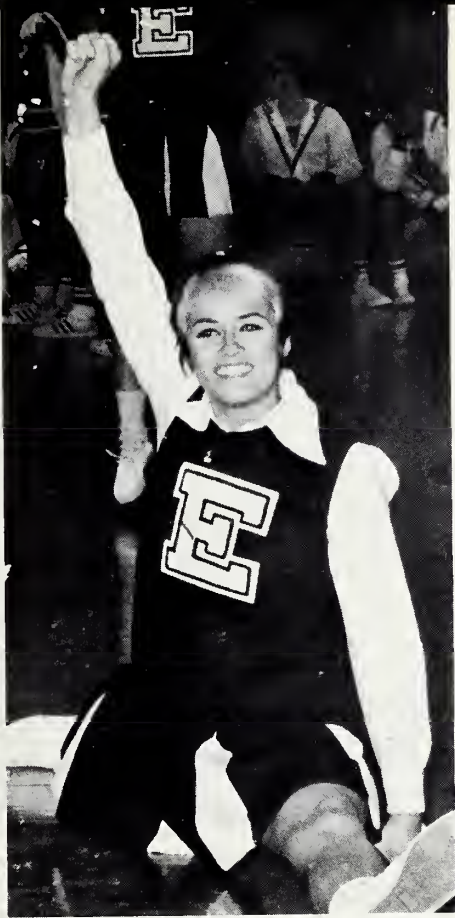

For all,
The eye perceives;
The final score,
The glorious victor,
And the agonized defeated.

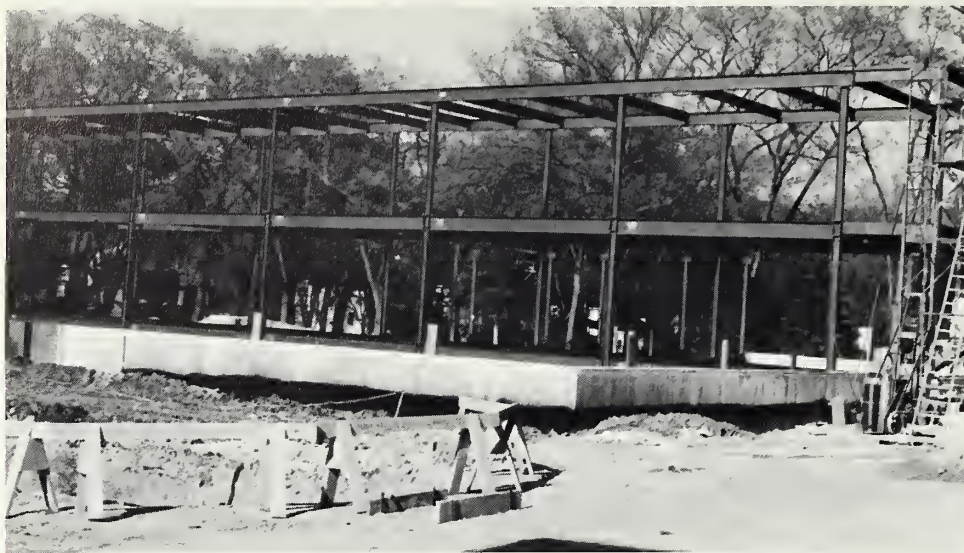

We see it all, and yet none,
And you, the athlete,
Are the power, and the skill,
and the grace;
We see it all, and yet none.

We destroy the old,
And build the new;

Sometimes with mortar and brick,
Sometimes with barbed wire;

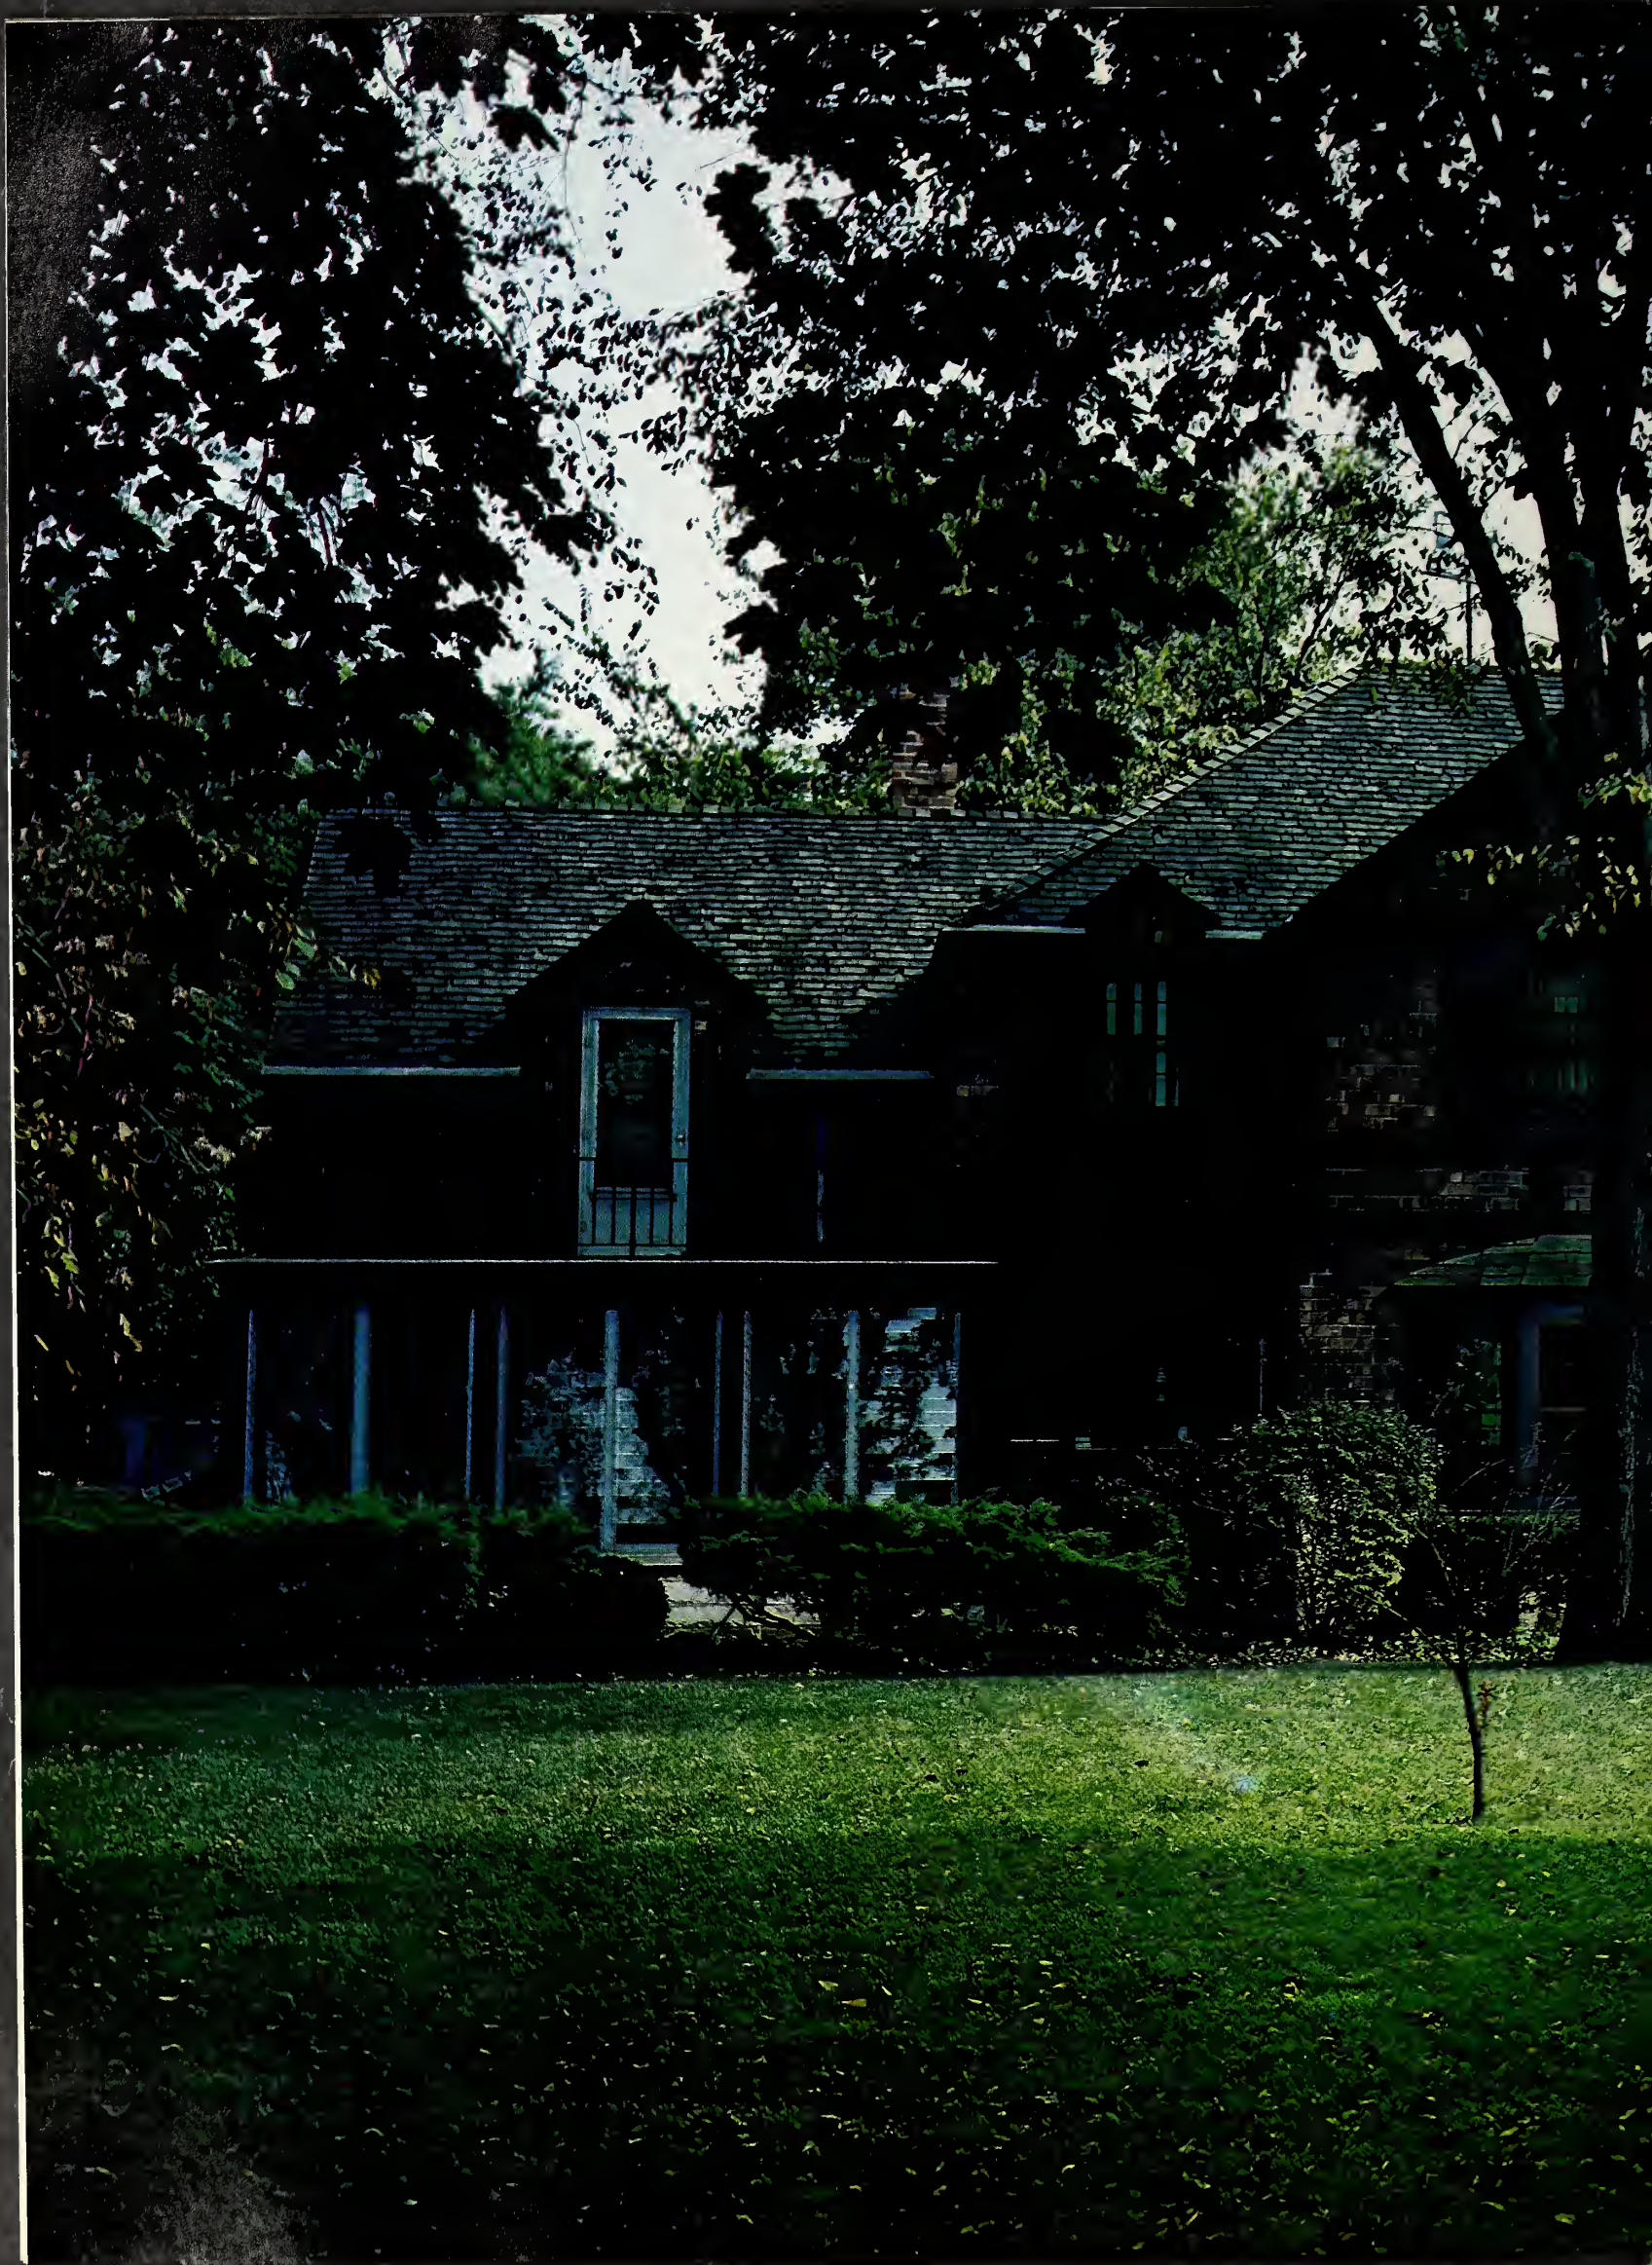

We learn to watch for the new,
As the old fades into the mists of memory.

A campus becomes crowded,
And a President's home is destroyed,
A new one donated.

The faces,
The hands,
The feet,
Whether behind the Eight-ball,
Or rushing to class;
These are the people of our family,
These are the people of E.C.

It is here that our eyes have seen,
It is here that we have lived
And had being;
It is here that we have learned
And gained Knowledge.

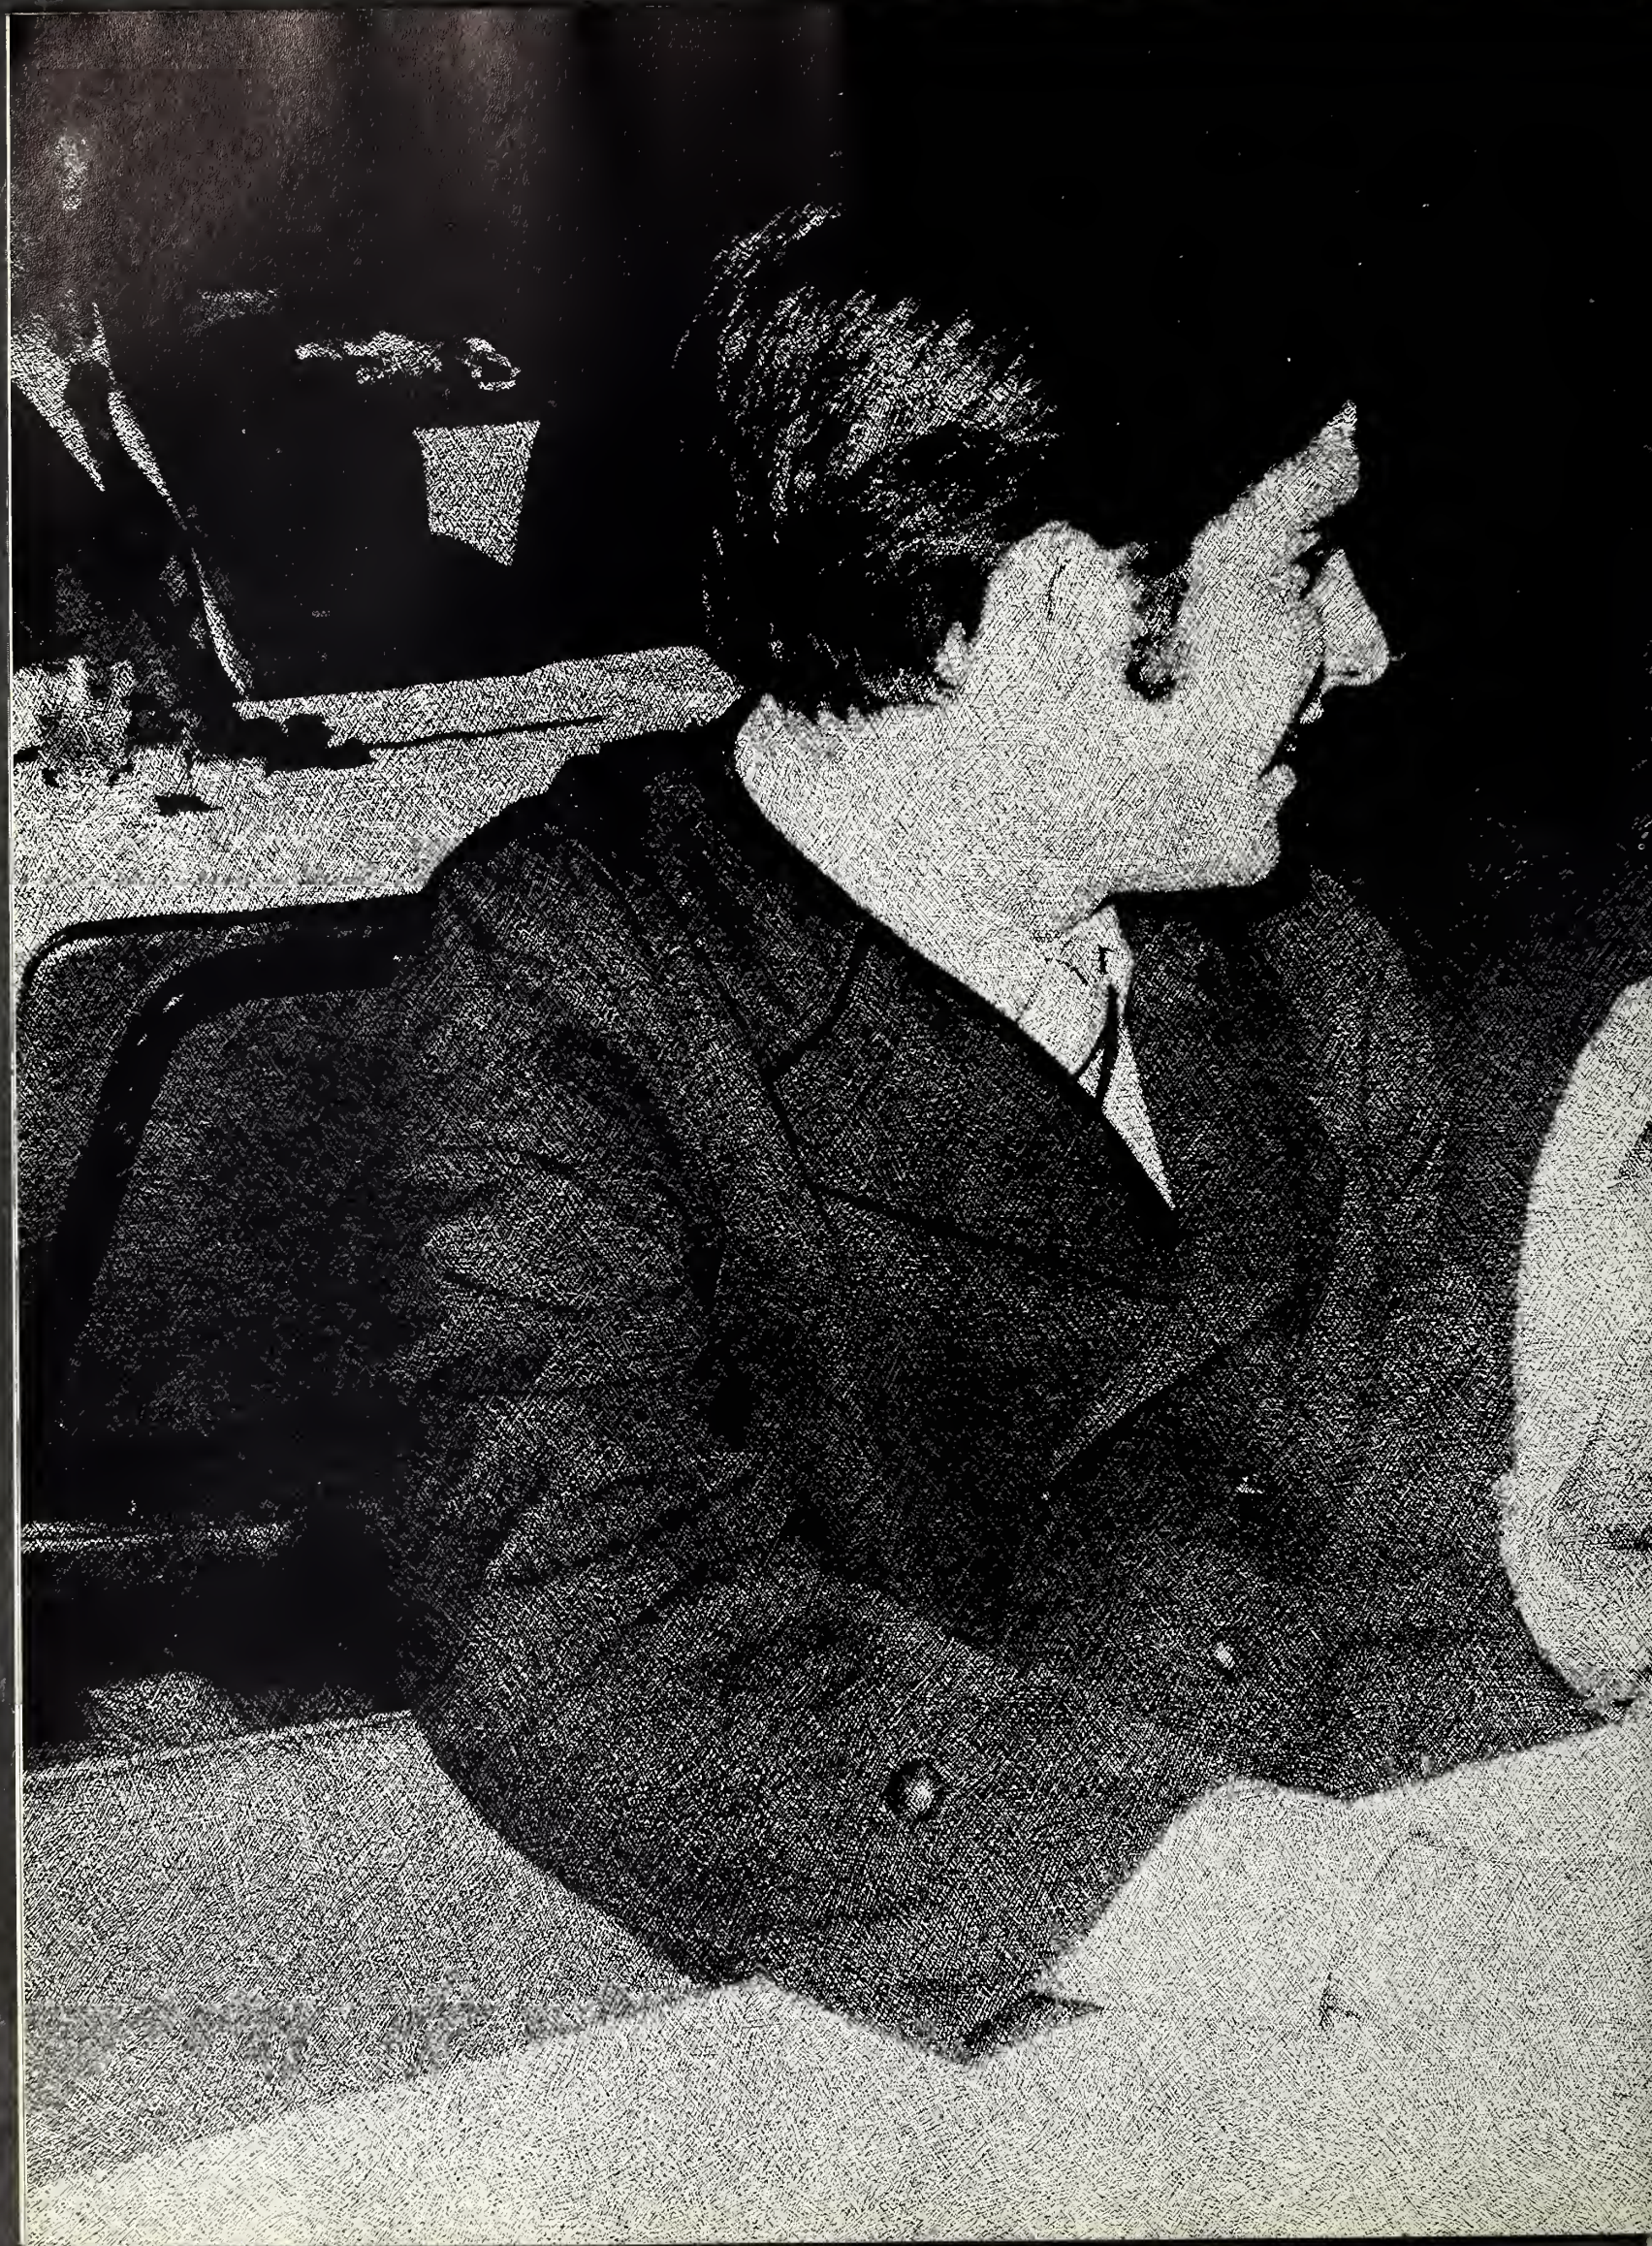

It is here that we
Have experienced life;
In the eyes of God.

THE YEAR

Chris Jans begins her first climb to Stanger fourth floor.

Class of '73 Embark On College Careers

The whirl of activities which constituted Freshman Orientation 1969, began with President Kleckner's welcoming speech to the freshmen and their parents. The students were then rushed from their good-byes and set through the paces of tests, meetings, and activities, highlighted by the Chicago excursion, the special production of TWELFTH NIGHT, and Studs Terkel's talk on his book, DIVISION STREET: AMERICA. As the freshmen turned their backs on the headaches of button raids, class registration, and cries of "Hey, Frosh, where's your button?" they faced the new perils of student life on the Elmhurst College campus.

Tradition is upheld at the annual tug of war between freshmen and upperclassmen.

Two freshman girls ponder which books to buy.

Judy Miniclier discusses dorm life with a new group of residents from Stanger.

President Kleckner crowns Teri Calkins.

Niebuhr Caged 'em with the winning float.

EC band performs during half time ceremonies.

Homecoming '69 — It All Happened At The Zoo

Alumni returned October 17, 18, and 19 to a big weekend of festivities. The fun began Friday night with the Harold Beters Concert. During intermission Teri Calkins began her reign as Homecoming Queen. Although the Jays fell to Carthage 28-0, the half time band performance lifted the spirits of the crowd. Niebuhr

Hall picked up the trophy for the best float while Praetors landed second place. Josef's Restaurant was the scene of the Dinner-Dance, featuring the Ron Phelps orchestra. The annual Homecoming Chapel Service marked the end of the weekend events.

Mosier sidearms a Carthage defender for long yardage.

Debbie Krauth and Joe Smetana do their thing to the lively music of the Ron Phelps Orchestra at the Dinner-Dance.

John Redfield and Tom Zappe take part in the Harold Betters Seminar before concert.

Let Us Mourn

On October 15, 1969 Elmhurst College students joined thousands across the nation in a Day of Mourning for the American Servicemen killed in the Viet Nam Conflict. Classes were cancelled and students were able to attend the various events on campus. Among the activities were faculty-led seminars on subjects such as, "Liberal Arts and the Moral-Political Issues," "The Viet Nam War and the National Mood," and "Alternate Ways to End the War." Speakers included Mr. Joseph Tuchinsky, Director of the Midwest Committee for Draft Counseling and Father Pietra, a member of the "Chicago 15." To further support their cause, EC students took part in an orderly march through the city of Elmhurst carrying signs and chanting. Climax of the day's events was the appearance of NBC newscaster Floyd Kalber, who presented his views concerning the Viet Nam War.

Margaret Rasche reads the names of United States Servicemen who have been killed in the Viet Nam War.

Ron Molden conducts brass seminar for several high school students.

E.C.'s own Marilyn Walton competed in the vocalist division.

DeDe Garret of the University of Illinois won the vocalist award.

E.C. Hosts Midwest Intercollegiate Jazz Festival

On April 10 and 11, Elmhurst College once again sponsored the annual Midwest Jazz Band Festival with Barb Lewis acting as student director. Competition was in three categories with eight bands competing in the Big Band category, three combos and four entries in the vocalist division. Winners were Bowling Green State — Big Band, University of Illinois — combo, and DeDe Garrett from Illinois as vocalist. In conjunction with the festival, a jazz seminar was held for high school students on Saturday morning featuring outstanding professionals in the jazz field.

The champ in the big band division was Bowling Green State University.

Bill Gutenschwager hosts the Consul Generals of Argentina, Colombia and Venezuela at a panel discussion.

Elmhurst Goes Latin For Three Days

The Second Annual International Studies Conference was held at Elmhurst College from March 16 to 18, 1970. Joint sponsorship was again provided by Epsilon Chi, an affiliate of Tau Kappa Epsilon and social science honorary, Pi Gamma Mu. Contributing to the theme, "Evolution or Revolution" guest speakers included professors, Dr. Sue Gross and Dr. George Blanksten, Peace Corps official, Robert White, banker, Bruce Marshall, and the consul generals of Argentina, Venezuela and Colombia as a panel discussion.

E. C. Joins Nation In Observance Of Earth Day

Earth Day, a national event decrying mans' pollution of his environment, was observed on April 22 at Elmhurst College and across the nation. A day-long schedule of activities was sponsored by the Elmhurst College Geography Club and S.T.O.P. Programs ranged from an NBC film and a multi-media presentation to participation by junior high students and a debate between C.A.P. (Campaign against Pollution) and representatives of the Commonwealth Edison Co.

The Union Lounge draws people to its displays and booths.

Concerned students select some brochures devoted to Earth Day.

Father Woods discusses a bit before his multi-media show.

Sherrie Kolseth and Tom Raspanti chat with Jeanne Baxter and Scott Princen between numbers.

Diane Schmutzler beams with delight at

The Cost of Living keeps the beat.

Scarface's Place Scene Of Dance

Disguised as Scarface's Place, the new snack bar was the scene of Bachelor's Holiday on April 11. E.C. girls brought their favorite "gangsters," who were given cigars and guns to well equip them for the evening. Music was provided by the "Cost of Living." After the "raid," the court was introduced and Tom Raspanti reigned as the "boss" for the night.

Second Century Fund Drive Kicks Off

Spirit ran high as the Second Century Kick-off rally officially opened the student fund-raising campaign. President Kleckner was on hand to lend support to the featured speakers. The band did its part by playing the fight song over and over. Student Chairman Mike Connelly explained to the balloon-carrying crowd the system of "share" certificates and urged all students to contribute. To date the students have pledged more than $4700 over a three-year period.

President Kleckner urges support from the students.

Balloons marked the spirit of the fund drive.

Emcee Bryan Dagenhart also performed.

Harbinger Sponsors Folk and Rock Festival

Wilder Park was the setting on May 9 of the Folk and Rock Festival sponsored by the Harbinger Coffeehouse. Emceed by Bryan Dagenhart, the festival consisted of many area singers as well as former National Coffeehouse Circuit singer Don Crawford and Ann Mortifee, co-host for a national Canadian television show. Also appearing were Jeff King's "The Band that Plays the Blue," "Expresso Flower" and Bruce and Nancy Carlson. The Festival was well attended and highly successful, pointing to the possibility that it may become an annual event at Elmhurst.

Polyhymnia blends its voices to celebrate Spring's arrival.

The Glee Club also entertained on Spring Week-End.

Spring is Here on E. C.'s Campus

Spring at Elmhurst means concerts, and banquets, and awards. This year was no exception. The band performed an open-air concert of light music in the mall. The parents on hand for the official Spring week-end were entertained by Polyhymnia and the Glee Club. Participants in the Sunday chapel service heard an inspiring sermon by "Chaplain Bob." At the annual Honors banquet, the Presidential award recipients and members of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges were honored with certificates. An appropriate end to the activities was the awarding of The Distinguished Faculty award to Dr. Schade of the History Department.

President Kleckner speaks at the Honors Banquet.

Heads are bowed for a moment of prayer at the Chapel service.

Student Body Chooses Rosie

Bill Caprel progresses through the receiving line.

Moneta Shearin, John Spooner, Queen Rosie Phillips, Gerald Archer, Pamela Makell.

Retiring queen Teri Calkins places crown on Rosie Phillips.

Debbie Simmons received token from Paul, amid admiring glance of Gary Hayes.

Two Bands Provide Dance Music For All Tastes

The Spring Formal was held at the M & M Club in the Merchandise Mart with a "Candlelight Cruise" theme. Although a proposed boat ride was cancelled due to the weather, an evening accented by small candle favors was enjoyed by all. Queen Rosie Phillips reigned as Ralph Berger's Orchestra and a soul group, "The Four Naturals," added the musical touch to the dance on May 1. The junior class sponsored the big event by the sale of junior goodies and also a contribution from Social Life; plus history was made with the serving of liquor for the first time at the Elmhurst Prom.

Music provided by "The Four Naturals" enlivens the posh Candlelight Cruise.

Drew Daubenspeck attaches a corsage to Sandy Fujiwara's special gown.

A table of prom-nighters sit down to enjoy cocktails and a tasty dinner.

Dr. Phillips speaks to the candidates.

Dr. Kleckner passes out those coveted sheepskins.

Channing E. Phillips Speaks at Baccalaureate Service

The dignitaries assemble on the platform to begin the ceremony.

Mrs. Cynthia Clark Wedel

The Class of 1970 assembles together for the last time to sing the Alma Mater.

First Woman Addresses at Commencement

On the on-again, off-again rainy afternoon of May 31, 437 received their degrees. The Baccalaureate service in the morning featured all three campus choral groups singing spiritual music written by Dr. Carl F. Mueller. At the Commencement exercises, Dr. Mueller was presented with the Alumni Merit Award. Four persons received honorary degrees including Rev. Channing E. Phillips, who spoke at the Baccalaureate on "Woodstock or Good Stocks." History was made as Mrs. Cynthia Clark Wedel, President of the National Council of Churches, became the first woman to address an Elmhurst Commencement crowd. As the carillon chimed "The Heavens are telling the Glory of God," it was all over; only memories and tears were left.

ADMINISTRATION AND ACADEMICS

President Endorses Shared Government

'Twas a good year! Endorsement of shared government was a step forward in recognizing students' desires to share in all aspects of college life. Selection of a contractor for the new A.C. Buehler Library prompted the tearing down of the President's old home on Prospect Street. Moving into their new home on Cottage Hill Avenue, Dr. and Mrs. Kleckner were able to relax and entertain in more space.

Dr. Kleckner, chatting with senior Jim Trosen, always finds time to stop and discuss problems with students on the Elmhurst campus.

Elmhurst College President Urges Creation of A Human World At Convocation

Dean Robert Clark Strives For Academic Excellence In EC Curriculum

Dr. Clark presents his talents to the Elmhurst College community in two ways: as a teacher of the Interdisciplinary course, Ideas and Methods, as well as an administrator. In addition to hiring teachers and presiding at faculty meetings, Dean Clark oversees the entire academic program at Elmhurst College. Concerned with maintaining the high academic standards of the college, Dr. Clark works to keep the curriculum in pace with the modern trends in higher education.

Above, Mr. Robert Swords, Registrar. Left, Mr. Donald Weiss, Director of Records and Research.

Mr. Ray R. Ramseyer, Vice President for Development

Mr. Trevor Pinch, Business Manager

Rev. Roy Gieselmann, Purchasing Agent

Mr. Robert Ryan, Security Officer

Mr. Roy G. Johnson, Director of Physical Plant

Rev. Roger K. Lewis, Asst. to President for Church Relations

Mr. Chads Skinner, Dir. of Admissions.

Admissions And Financial Aid Serve Students

The Admissions Department, headed by Mr. Chads Skinner and Mrs. Mary Green, assumes the responsibility of selecting students for acceptance to Elmhurst College. Admissions informs prospective students of requirements in testing, application forms, transcripts, and fees. Planning for Freshman Orientation keeps the Admissions staff and students busy for months. Students concerned with financial problems receive consultation and assistance from Mr. Richard Wedemeyer, Director of Student Aid. Many persons combine their efforts to insure the future of new and returning E.C. students.

Public Relations Office Communicates

Mr. Russell Wiegand, Assistant Director of Development, helps Steve Schultz, a student photographer, to type a news press release.

Mr. Gerald Rasa of the News Bureau.

The Public Relations Office, located in the lower level of Lehman Hall, is a hub of communication. News releases concerning concerts, sports events, theatrical productions, and student honors are sent out to newspapers around the country. A record of each student's home town newspaper is kept so that the "folks back home" will be informed of activities at Elmhurst College. The office employs several students as photographers and assistants to help publicize campus events. The office also provides information that draws the Elmhurst community into the life of the college. Alumni are also informed of current events. The office reaches everyone related to E.C.

Assistant Dean of Students, Mr. Gary Durst; Assistant Deans of Women, Miss Judy Miniclier and Miss Barbara Marquard; Assistant Dean of Men, Mr. Wence Cunningham.

Mr. C. Neal Davis, Dean of Students

Dean of Students Office Serves the EC Student

In addition to co-ordinating the housing facilities at Elmhurst, the Dean of Students personnel provide assistance in a broad range of areas. These include co-operating with the Health Service and Counseling Center as well as with the Placement Office, College Union, and Financial Aid Office to serve the student in his many needs outside the classroom.

Mr. James Cunningham, Director of College Union

Mrs. Opal Van Borg, Conference and Calendar Coordinator

Mrs. Ann Reschke, Switchboard Operator

Mrs. Jeanne Spencer, Union Hostess

Union Expands To Better Serve E.C. Students

Returning students in the fall of 1969 found the main floor of the Union greatly changed from the past year; the mail-room, T.V. room, and placement office replaced the old pool room. As a result, a spacious and carpeted new games area opened after interim in conjunction with a new shack bar. The shack bar suggests Piper's Alley of Chicago's Old Town with its brick work and darkwood booths and tables. These facilities are located in the sub-basement of the Union. A final change in the Union occurred in the cafeteria which extended into the former snack bar, introduced varied board plans and instituted a system of meal tickets, with one-serving dining.

Mrs. Marge Fantozzi, Snack Bar Manager

Mrs. Inga Albright, College Dietitian

Nancy Schultz seems surprised at her own ingenuity at the game of Risk.

Mrs. Ellen Dunning, College Nurse

Mrs. Elnor Currie, Supervising Nurse

Health Service And Counseling Center Serve Physical And Psychological Needs of E.C. Students

The basement of Niebuhr Hall is known to all students who are taken ill or injured while on campus. For there one finds the Health Service which provides 24-hour medical service to the campus community and administers flu immunizations before the December "sick-in" before exams begin. Having recognized the need to talk over problems, the new Niebuhr Counseling Center was opened to provide verbal therapy with the help of trained counselors to all members of the Elmhurst College community.

Dr. Alice K. Murata, Coordinator of Counseling Services

Mr. Mel George, head librarian, instructs Shahla Moktarian in the use of the phonograph.

Mrs. Shirley Grobe, Miss Carol Jonas, Mr. Glen Kistner

E.C. Library Looks to the Future

The College Library is at once dreaming of its new home for which ground was broken on the site of President Kleckner's former home on Prospect Avenue and maintaining its present structure south of the Union. Indeed, the library offers students sizable collections of periodicals, records and bound volumes as well as a xerox copier and study area. The library staff is always available to students for any assistance that might be desired and is able to open the doors of libraries of several other institutions in the Chicago area for the further efforts of researching E.C.'ers.

Elmhurst College students are always welcome to use any of the library's study areas.

Dr. Andrew Prinz, director of Urban Studies Program.

College Initiates Urban Studies

Miss Delores Hamilton, coordinator of Afro-American Studies.

The Urban Studies Program, by next year, will be a cross disciplinary major consisting of courses from Metropolitan government, Urban geography, Urban history, Modern Communities, and also field work in Urban Studies. The emphasis of the study will be affective rather than on cognitive learning, allowing for more involvement rather than classroom work. The studies prepare for work in urban centers and government social work or teaching. A major in Urban Studies can also be applied toward graduate work. In the future, additional courses from geography, history, sociology and political science will be added along with field experience in a government or public agency.

Mrs. Gertrude Tripp, Director of Language Lab

Language Lab Aids E.C. Students

The Language Lab, located on the lower level of Lehman Hall, serves the college in many capacities. With modern recording equipment and a wide selection of tapes, students of foreign language can practice grammar and pronunciation drills; music students can choose from a wide range of modern and classical selections, to aid them in musical analysis and appreciation, during library periods.

Placement Office Serves All Students

If you're looking for a job, Mrs. Linda Bruemmer, new head of the Placement Service, is the one to see. Although many students think the department is mainly concerned with finding jobs for seniors upon graduation, many other services are available to all students. Full year employment for graduates and summer employment for undergraduates is offered. An interesting program has been designed for interim in which the student may earn pay and college credit for his job. The Placement Service is located in the Union.

Mrs. Linda Bruemmer, Placement Director

Dr. John Jump

Students Explore Life

Throughout the year, biology students explored the world of plant and animal life in the classroom and in the laboratory. Then during Interim, they had a chance to observe ecological situations first-hand in Florida. Minute life forms enlarged to visible size in the Electron Microscopy course. Offerings ranging from Principles of Biology, Botany, and Zoology to advanced studies in Animal Histology, Genetics, and Embryology reveal that the dynamic pace of science is evident in the up-to-date curriculum offered by the Biology Department at Elmhurst College.

Dr. Earl Meseth

Dr. Robert Sweeney

Dr. Joseph Gorsic

Mr. Frank Mittermeyer examines cultures with Greg Wright.

Mr. Dominic Scudiero

Dr. Maybelle Kohl

Maureen Bubert operates the department's teletype machine.

The Business Department Prepares Students For The Future

Combining experience and actual business practices, Elmhurst business majors enjoy the benefits of a progress-oriented department. Emphasizing the new trends in business and marketing, students become more aware of the demands of a business-centered society with such courses as data processing and income taxation. An outstanding example of this progressive attitude was the opportunity for students to visit and view the workings of computer operations in a large Chicago bank during the January Interim this current year.

Mr. Vikram Dutt

Dr. Rudolf Priepke and Dr. Robert Glogovsky take a break with the "think drink"

Chemistry Challenges Students

Every year beginning chemistry students search for the solutions to many unanswered questions. In the lab and in the classroom they learn techniques which will allow them to arrive at these solutions and at the same time consider new problems and formulate new questions. This cycle of questions and answers and more questions is never ending for the serious chemistry student as he proceeds from Elementary Chemistry, to Quantitative Analysis, to Organic Chemistry all the way to Physical Chemistry and Independent study. The Interim period provided chances to gain valuable experience through courses in Computer Science and Radio Chemistry.

Gregory Maksimuk analyzes the significance of a reaction.

Shelley Neukom makes preparations for her next experiment.

Ray Davies measures his sample as accurately as possible.

Dr. John C. Ganchoff

Dr. Rudolf G. Schade

Mr. Walter E. Burdick

Students of History Delve Into Past

From the time of the Greeks and Romans to the recent past, history challenges the student to explore and draw responsible conclusions from the facts presented. Included in the departmental offerings are Medieval History, The Age of Absolutism, History of Russia, as well as the United States in the Twentieth Century. During interim, students were given insight into the Nature of Revolutions in Modern Times and the Near East in Recent Times.

Mr. Neal Blum

Classics Present Ancient Greece And Rome

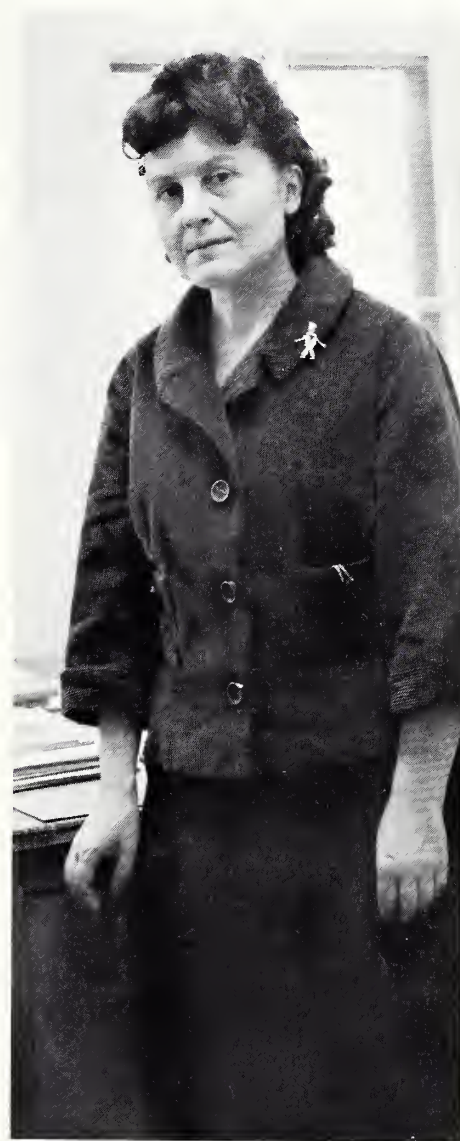

The Classics Department offers the student the challenge of Latin and Greek. Basic understanding of grammar as well as of culture of ancient Greece and Rome are emphasized. The course in the Greek New Testament provides the opportunity for students to compare various translations. During the Interim, students learned about ancient coins and Greek mythology.

Political Science

The Political Science Department prepares students in the pre-law curriculum as well as those interested in government service. A special feature is the Washington Semester Plan through which students spend a semester in the nation's capitol. One can see the American government in action. Offered during January were Democratic Pluralism and Extremist Politics and the United States and Latin America.

Relevancy Key To Russian Studies

Students at Elmhurst are fortunate in having the opportunity to study the language and customs of the Soviet Union. The relevancy of the Russian language is unquestionable today. Not only are courses in basic Russian grammar available, but also upper-level courses in conversation and composition and contemporary Russian literature.

Miss Marina Darian

Dr. Gordon W. Couchman

The English Department Holds Many Opportunities For Students

The English Department of Elmhurst College offers a wide variety of courses. Students enrolled in the department are able to take courses studying literature from Medieval and Renaissance ages through modern styles. For those intent on improving their own writing skills, other courses in expository and creative writing are offered. The new Interim term provided a chance for students to participate in such unique courses as Russian Literature, What is Satire?, and Literary Criticism in the '60's. The recent inclusion of a study of Black Literature exemplified the English Department's desire to increase their excellence.

Mrs. Barbara Swords

Miss Huguette Theodore

Miss Mary Ann Erwin

Mr. Arnold E. Davidson

Dr. William R. Barclay

Mr. R. M. Leader

Dr. Donald R. Low

Mr. Donald Juday

Speech Department Offers Specialization In Four Areas

The Speech and Drama department offers the E.C. student four possible majors including: Public Speaking, Speech Correction, Dramatic Arts, and General Speech. The department also offers practicum courses for work in Forensics, Radio, and Theatre. Housed in the recently renovated Mill Theatre, the Speech and Drama department has produced many and varied student acted and directed plays and one acts for the enjoyment of the college and the entire Elmhurst community.

Mr. Charles Schmidt
Mr. Robert Rohden

Mrs. Patricia Anderson

Speech Correction Clinic Serves College And Community

The speech correction curriculum provides the prospective therapist with the theory of remedying speech disorders in victims of stroke, cerebral palsy, cleft palate, stuttering, and the mentally retarded while the Speech Clinic offers students opportunities to use their skills in practical situations. The clinic offers free therapy to any EC student needing improvement in general articulating skills. Clinical help is also available for the hard of hearing and the deaf. A new addition to the clinic is the audiometer, which is used to detect hearing deficiency.

Connie Dunning operates language master to improve pronunciation.

Nora Alsaker uses paper men to illustrate a point as Miss Patricia Green looks on.

Mrs. Linda Ruffolo shows Richard Budzik how to operate audiometer to test Dave Cavallo's hearing.

Mr. Walter Schousen
Mr. Wendall Harris

Miss Eileen Hackman explains a point to phys ed major Barbara Dodds.

Gym Courses Offer Change Of Pace

Volleyball, one of many service courses offered, provides exercise.

The expanding physical education department offers Elmhurst students an ever increasing number of service courses with which they master exercise and recreation games. Department majors can choose from varied theory and method courses offered.

Mr. Kenneth Spiroff, Mr. Richard P. Ulrich, Mr. Jon A. Hawthorne, Mr. Jerol E. Andres

Mr. Harold P. Owen

Dr. Ervin Schmidt

Education Department Prepares Students For Careers In Teaching

The Education Department continues to function as one of the most dynamic on the Elmhurst campus. Indicative of this highly instructive and always adaptive approach to teacher education, the interim offerings involved participation of students in actual school environments and also allowed investigation of the often neglected area of adult education. A special honor came this year in the form of national accreditation; this distinction was granted to a few select schools across the United States.

Miss Maryann Heidinger

Dr. Michael Feldman

Dr. Peter Pierro

Mr. Alfred Moser

Mr. Frederick Tyrrell

Narrow streets are characteristic of the ancient city of Jaffa.

Rev. Donald Stoner

Theology Students Learn About Biblical Heritage In Israel

In addition to preparing pre-theology students for advanced work, the Theology Department seeks to enlighten all students of the relationships between Christian faith and the contemporary world through the required course, Biblical Faith and Modern Man. For those students who seek a deeper understanding of the Christian faith, the department offers doctrinal courses, such as Contemporary Christian Thought and courses with Faith and Culture. Included in this group are Ethics, and Theology and the Arts. An entire curriculum designed for those who wish to enter the field of Christian Education is available. A highlight of the department's offerings this year was the interim trip to Israel. Twelve students, along with Dr. Rose, toured Jerusalem, the Jordan River Valley, the Dead Sea, and the Sea of Galilee. Emphasis was on how the cultures of these lands contributed to the Biblical heritage that has been passed down to us.

Keith Weiland and Rich Reinwald enter the Holy Sepulchre Church, which is located in Jerusalem.

Rev. Robert Schieler, College Chaplain

Dr. Peter Schmiechen

Jay Tiede and Rich Reinwald inspect the rocky shore of the Dead Sea.

Mrs. Ariane Devaud

E.C. French Students Go To France

In January 1970, nine Elmhurst College students along with Mr. Audion des Cartier, spent three weeks touring France. Fascinated by the historical charm and the exciting night life of Paris, they toured Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre Museum, and the cafes of St. Germain des Pres. After six days in Paris, they went through the Loire River Valley in the south of France. While in Payri-card, they had many chances to use their French as well as enjoy French-cooked food.

Kathy Labovsky and Marilyn Micek enjoy a hearty laugh with their bus driver, left, and waiter.

Mrs. Paulette Hatmaker

Medieval ruins still attract tourists throughout Southern France.

Mrs. Miriam Jones, Dr. Marie Wellington, Mrs. Jeanine Kallal

Spanish Students View Spain During Interim

The Elmhurst College Spanish department continues to serve the student who is fulfilling the one year language requirement. In addition, those whose interests extend beyond the language requirement find varied courses through which proficiency in conversation, writing and reading may be attained. Joining forces with Illinois Wesleyan University, nine students spent the Interim in Spain. They visited the Prado in Madrid, the Royal Palace, cathedrals in Toledo, and Seville as well as a lace factory in Granada and a wine industry in Jerez. Students had the opportunity to use their Spanish first hand in the shops and hotels.

Mrs. Marian Howie

Students view camels in Spanish Morocco

View of the longest Roman bridge in Spain.

View of bullring and Mediterranean Sea at Malaga.

Mr. John Brauer

Mrs. Cecilia Baumann

Students Of German Learn Language, Customs

The German department hoped to take a group of students to the Fatherland over interim for invaluable exposure to the native tongue in the native land, but with great disappointment the trip failed to materialize. Hopes remain high, however, that a future interim will find E.C. students on the banks of the Rhine as the department continues to offer a wide variety of courses devoted to German literature and thought throughout the year.

Mrs. Emily Kirby

Students Explore The Mind

Exploration into the human mind and human behavior is the task of serious students of psychology. Among the many aspects of the science, Elmhurst offers experimental, clinical, and physiological studies. This interim the department joined forces with other departments to offer the students Psychology and Art and Psychology and Religion. Also offered was a course aimed to explore aspects of group dynamics.

Dr. Burton Siegel

Mrs. Jean Tracy discusses program with Tony Neylon.

Mrs. Diane Mufson

Mrs. Mary Zink

Mr. Keith Failon

Math Deals With Real And Abstract

Students with a yen for the abstract and unknown find challenging courses in the E.C. Mathematics Department. In addition to providing majors with a solid background in math through such courses as Calculus, Algebraic Structures, Differential Equations, the department serves the non-majors who require a basic understanding of mathematical concepts for their chosen fields. A special course for elementary education majors dealing with theory enables future teachers to grasp the true concepts of simple math equations. The interim offerings this January included Introductory to Computer Science and Mathematics for Liberal Arts.

Mr. Donald Mason

Mrs. Dorothy Faegre

Dr. T. Howard Krueger

Mr. James Sorensen

Music Department Offers Credit For Organizations

Elmhurst College's Music Department tries to serve every student at some time during his years at E.C. The music major and the general student can take courses involving Music Theory, History and Literature of Music, Music Education, and Applied Music. There is a style of music to satisfy every person's desires, from classical through church, to contemporary. Choral and instrumental organizations are available for those desiring added study and musical performances.

Geography Department Spends Interim In Jamaica

During the 1970 Interim, the Geography Department sponsored a trip to Jamaica and Puerto Rico in cooperation with Carroll College. Thirteen students from Elmhurst spent fourteen days in the Caribbean, enabling them to compare the cultural variations between the two islands. Not only did the students learn through actual experience, but they also returned with healthy suntans. In other areas, the Geography Department offers varied regional, systematic, and also technical courses which fulfill the social and natural science requirements. Students can sit in the classroom and "take tours" throughout the world by studying the physical as well as cultural aspects of Europe, Soviet Union, Africa, or Asia.

Philosophy Induces Thought

All candidates for a degree at Elmhurst are required to receive an exposure to philosophy in the introductory course. For those students who thereafter choose to either major in the subject or to simply further pursue man's heritage of great thought, the department offers investigations into ethics, esthetics, and other areas of contemporary and ancient philosophy. Similarly, the January interim was adapted to wider studies into such areas as oriental philosophy and seminars devoted to provocative topics as Archaic Myth and Modern Science. The department strives to provide students with courses that incorporate all aspects of thought.

E.C. Explores Economy

For the student who heeds the challenge and inherent calculated competition of America's affluent society, the Economics Department provides investigation into the complex factors upon which the nation thrives and functions. Thus offerings range from banking, labor and finance to international economics in order to include the vast intricacies of a human economy.

Sociology Students Put Their Knowledge Into Action

The Sociology and Theology Departments sponsored a new and unique interim this January. Seven students spent the month working at a U.C.C. mission in Biloxi, Mississippi. Besides doing various tasks around the Back Bay Mission, the students were given an opportunity to participate in the local Head Start Program, to go out into the community and meet people, and to attend the congressional hearings that took place in Biloxi the first week.

Opportunities For Self- Expression Provided By Art Department

The urge to create, whether with clay, pen and ink, or even marshmallows and straws is satisfied by the in-depth curriculum of the Art Department. Recently expanded to a major, practical as well as theoretical and appreciative courses are offered. This year marked the beginning of African Art and African-American Art offerings. Students enrolled in the interim took part in field trips to supplement classroom lectures on the art of Japan.

Religious Life Sponsors Retreat, Speakers

The Religious Life committee sponsored a number of speakers as well as other forms of programming. Among the speakers were Columbus Salley and Ron Behm who spoke on "New Perspective on Black Theology," Rabbi Richard Rubenstein, who dealt with "Technology and Eros," Dr. Clark Pinnock who lectured on "Situation Nonethics," Dr. Fee of Wheaton College who discussed a "Gospel for Modern Man," and Dr. Joseph Fletcher of the Episcopal Theology Seminary, who spoke on "Situation Ethics." Other programs included the Mid-Winter Retreat at Tower Hill Camp at Sawyer, Michigan where sensitivity training was practiced and the 400 Years of guitar concert by Gale Hunt and Leon Berkowski whose profits went to the Pan-American Health Service of Honduras.

C-I Life Sponsors Varied Programs

The Cultural-Intellectual Life Committee fulfilled its traditional contribution to the campus activities by providing a wide and commendable variety of programming. This year's events included a production of "Cyrano de Bergerac" by the Pacific Repertory company, a lecture by the noted sociologist Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, and films ranging from the award-winning "A Man for All Seasons" through Poe's "The Raven" to the camp operetta "Naughty Marietta." ## Social Life Presents The Delfonics

The Social Life Committee was concerned with the notoriously "ailing" social life on the E.C. campus. Remedies were offered in various guises: concerts by several top recording groups like the Delfonics and Tennyson Stephens, excursions to concerts and theatre offerings in Chicago, such as "Hair." Two all-night parties in the Union, a weekend series of recent films including "Rosemary's Baby" and "Blow-Up," and the much-publicized Preservation Hall Jazz Band helped to liven up the social scene. The campus seemed to respond favorably to the varied and active therapy. In charge of events this year was June Williams.

The Associated Women Students experienced an extremely active year in 1969-70. In the fall a men's and women's fashion show was presented, and a series of sex education seminars were afforded the campus. In the spring the annual AWS circus entertained a host of young children as Rosie Phillips concluded her term as prexie.

STOP Initiates Seminar on World Problems

Students to Terminate Overpopulation and Pollution began its second year under the direction of a steering committee composed of Rich Katz, Mary Steeb, Nancy Kalk and John Meiners. Sponsoring was provided by STOP for speakers from the Isaac Walton League and Planned Parenthood which included a film, "The Squeeze," plus a debate on the DuPage County sewer bond issue for the benefit of students and the public. Joining forces with the DuPage County Intercollegiate Eco-action Committee, STOP conducted Earth Day programming both at Elmhurst and at the Yorktown Shopping Center. Another major off-campus effort involved assisting the Campaign Against Pollution in Chicago fight Commonwealth Edison, one of the city's biggest polluters. A printed booklet dealing with the problems of Hunger, Poverty, and Overpopulation was the result of the student-initiated Interim seminar.

The campus newspaper, the Elm Bark, flourished during the first term, suspended operations over the January interim, and made a delayed and rather sporadic return during the last term. Under the editorship of Bob Ullman, the Elm Bark provided news of athletics, social and academic events as well as an outlet for campus opinion. National news was also reported by the Elm Bark, with the last issue being devoted entirely to the United Strike Campaign.

Elms Presents An Eye On Elmhurst

In their twice weekly meetings, the Elms staff pondered pictures and created copy to be ultimately designed into six-on-two modular column layouts patterned after Look and Life; this format was initiated into the Elms by editor-in-chief, Marilyn Hinchley. Following Marilyn's innovative pace, her fellow workers strove to compile an attractive, comprehensive annual reflective of an ever-growing Elmhurst and a quality-oriented yearbook staff. By literally keeping their corporate "Eye on Elmhurst," the 1970 Elms staff produced a book as colorful and diverse as the new decade it opened at Elmhurst College.

Starting their second year on the E.C. campus, the TKEs, Tau Kappa Epsilon, went national as of May 2-3 as the Nu Zeta Chapter. Throughout the year, the TKEs aided the cancer and leukemia drives, held several dances, and organized a Christmas party for the Elmhurst Memorial Pediatrics Ward. A major evening of the year was the Installation Banquet at Josef's Restaurant.

Adelphae Participates In Social, Service Functions

In their third year, the Adelphae followed a calendar crowded with activities. Among the social occasions were the hayride, the Pizza Hut parties, and the Christmas party. In the area of social service, Adelphae participated in the Leukemia and Heart Fund drives and sponsored a picnic for inner city children as well as a Thanksgiving party for handicapped children. Several events were, of course, limited to members only as was a cosmetics demonstration conducted by Yardley of London.

O.D. Completes Second Year At E.C.

The sisterhood of Omicron Delta spent its year in a bustle of activities. Their easy victory in the football game with Adelphae proved to the O.D. girls that they had a promising year ahead of them. Omicron Delta involved themselves with such service projects as collecting for muscular dystrophy, selling doughnuts, and walking for hunger. Their Christmas party, Spring Holiday, and dance were some of the social activities that added fun and enthusiasm to O.D. and helped establish them as a firm part of E.C.

Praetors Contribute To E.C. Social Scene

The Brotherhood of Praetors, in their third year of existence, firmly established themselves in all phases of campus life. The "kick-off" dance was the first of three successful dances which enhanced the social life on the campus. The Praetors did well in competitive fields, too, decorating Homecoming with a prize-winning float for the third consecutive year, and winning several intramural championships. It was a year of change for the organization. They adopted the Greek letters ΠΠΑ as their initials and ratified a new constitution. Yet tradition was not forsaken as the Praetors continued monthly blasts.

Christmas Party Highlights Squires Activities

Recognized on dress-up occasions by their green-embled blazers, the Brotherhood of Squires continue to serve the college and community as a service organization. This year, the Squires experienced the largest pledge class in their long and established existence. The Squires initiated activities such as the March of Dimes, The Food Drive for the Uptown Center, and several other service projects. Social highlights of the year included Homecoming activities, the annual boat ride and the Spring Social. Squires who initiated intrafraternal academic competition were awarded the "Torch" for high academic achievement. Diversification, leadership, and scholarship will insure this group a predominant place on the Elmhurst campus for years to come.

The Elmhurst College Theatre began its 1969-1970 season with the Homecoming production of "Guys and Dolls." Following that highly acclaimed musical, the next offering was T. S. Eliots "Family Reunion" with the playlet "This Property is Condemned." In January, the student-directed one acts were the product of a one month interim course. Later in the semester, the Chancel Players toured with "Family Reunion" to San Antonio, L.S.U. and Oklahoma State. Frank Boyd served as student director to a company which performed to over 2,000 people on the tour. Then in May the season closed with the comedy "Oh Dad Poor Dad . . ." using a three slide stage.

Elmhurst College Choir under the direction of T. Howard Krueger maintained its yearly calendar, highlighted by the Christmas tour, local lenten concerts and a Spring Tour to New England. However, a feature did attach itself to Choir in the form of one quarter hour credit to participants. Pat Behle served as president and Marguerite Hinchley led the Chapel Bell Ringers through 69-70.

The Men's Glee Club added another year and another chapter to its long history as an organization on the Elmhurst campus. Mr. David Austin continued to serve the men as director and accompanied them on their April tour through the Ohio Valley. The season also included a number of Chicago area concerts in which the Glee Club performed both sacred and secular music with skill and the fervor of masculine voices in song. The group's theme song, "Elmhurst Forever," typifies their spirit.

The Polyhymnia women's choir began its first season under the direction of Paul Westermeyer and the Poly girls were at once impressed with their new leader. Thus the traditional quality of musical performance was maintained and the series of local concerts and the annual spring tour — this year to the northern great plains — again highlighted a year of Polyhymnia activities.

Band Presents Diversified Activities

The Elmhurst College Band brightened the football season with its half-time marching routines; the culmination of these efforts was the Homecoming show, "Talk to the Animals." As the year progressed, the annual Winter and Spring concerts offered entertainment to the college community. In March, a recruiting tour through Wisconsin and Illinois displayed E.C.'s band's prowess to high school audiences, and the traditional open air concert on Spring Weekend concluded an eventful year for the high-spirited band.

Marilyn Walton completed her second year as vocalist for the group.

Jazz Band Participates In Interim Workshop

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Moore, the Elmhurst College Jazz Band functions as part of the concert band. In addition to touring with the band, the Jazz Band participated in the Midwest Intercollegiate Jazz Festival held at Elmhurst. A special Jazz Workshop was conducted during Interim in which professional jazz musicians taught in seminars. A highlight of this year's activities was the assistance by Richard Abrams, a noted Black jazz musician.

E-Club Honors Uncle Pete

Among the many service projects conducted by the E-Club were the organization and publishing of the football and basketball programs as well as ushering at the basketball games. The Playboy Dance will be held in the fall, the football raffle came on Homecoming weekend, and the weekly meetings were on occasion conducted at Shakey's. Thirteen pledges joined the group, and all members attended pro-basketball games. In the spring, E-Club organized the student workers for the E.I.I. and selected the queen and her court. A major presentation by the group came in the form of the sign on the victory bell that designates the Langhorst Athletic Field in honor of Uncle Pete Langhorst, longtime coach at Elmhurst.

Harbinger Presents Its Various Sides

There are many faces to Harbinger Coffee House—many moods, people, types of music, topics of discussion. In one day the basement of Kranz Hall may see professors and students lecturing, discussing, listening, in an air thick with smoke and comments. Films and slide-projector presentations are given while everyone lounges on the pillows . . . or gazes at the multi-colored carpeted floor or at the latest poetry written on the wall. Later in the day, a rock band may be rehearsing and at night during the week, all sorts of meetings are held . . . but on weekends the Harbinger features music and entertainment from folk to rock—amid pillows, cigarettes, cider, and animal crackers. The Harbinger also sponsors a huge annual folk festival in the spring and is always a place to do your own thing. Gerrit Greve served as the general manager through the 1969-1970 year.

The Elmhurst College Geographical Society sponsored a series of slide-lectures that dealt with areas of the world such as West Germany, Latin America and Africa; John Jurjevich of the E.C. faculty presented his own slides of Africa. There was also a field trip to southern Wisconsin plus an aerial trip over the glaciated topography of that area. The society also joined S.T.O.P. to co-sponsor Earth Day activities on the E.C. campus in April.

Young Republicans Attend Convention

The Elmhurst Young Republicans spent an active year in 1969-1970; members of the group attended the Illinois College Republican Federation convention in Springfield and the Midwest College Republican Federation at Indianapolis. Other activities included the selling of honorary memberships to local stores and politicians and publishing a club newsletter. The group participated in the campaigns of Gene Hoffman, State Representative and Senator Jack Knueffer and gained field experience.

Backed by their new coach, Mr. Donald Juday, the E.C. debate team advanced to the quarter finals of the Illinois Forensic Association tournament, defeating five colleges. In the oratory section, Bob Aldrich took fifth place with his speech dealing with racial problems. This year marked the induction of six new members into Pi Kappa Delta. The debate team hosted a twenty-two-school tournament at Elmhurst, copping third place. Samuel Palermo was presented with the best speaker award. This year's topic was Resolved: That the federal government should grant annually a specific percentage of its income tax revenue to the state governments. Members of the debate team include Nancy Kaszak, Ann Smurlo, Christ Troupis, John Meiners, Kenneth Threet, and Kathy Goeke.

SEA Prepares Teachers

The Student Education Association, made up mainly of education majors, seeks as its aim the professional development of teachers. To achieve this goal, various programs are presented throughout the year. Featured this year was a two-part series on sex education in the schools. Mr. Thomas Sutton spoke against such a program, and Mr. Al Boyson voiced in favor. Dr. Ray Traub lectured on the integration policy in Evanston, Illinois schools. Dr. John Gibson presented a program on Vocational Education. "Mock" teacher interviews were set up to aid students in gaining poise at job interviews. An annual banquet-seminar is held in which students can speak with alumni and learn of their experiences. This year the officers attended the Student Illinois Education Association convention held in Springfield. The SEA typifies Elmhurst's ability to prepare teachers for the future.

Among the programs sponsored by B.L.O.C. were Phil Coran, a musician from Malcolm X Community College, Gylan Kahn, a black poet, Mrs. Betty Shabazz, widow of black leader Malcolm X, and several political awareness films including "American Revolution No. 2." The O'Hare Congress Inn was the scene of "Onyx" a dance held during Homecoming Weekend. A tutoring project in the inner city grew out of the interim course, "Black Empowerment." Other events included a trip to the opening ceremonies of the Malcolm X Liberation University in Durham, North Carolina, poetry readings in the Harbinger and intramural activities.

Reception Is Highlight Of Black Arts Fair

During March a reception for African artist Osse Osadebe was held in conjunction with a display of his paintings and artifacts. Hailing from Nigeria, Mr. Osadebe depicted the folk lore and architecture of his native land. Many E.C. students attended the reception and got a chance to visit with the artist. Interest ran high during the month-long display, as many paused between classes to take a look.

WRSE Innovates Split Broadcasting On AM and FM

WRSE-FM, the campus radio station, offered another innovative year of broadcasting from the college union radio station. Programming was expanded to Sundays and split broadcasting was initiated by airing dinner music on FM and rock music on AM from 5:00 to 6:45 P.M. A major non-radio project was the free, and therefore highly successful, WRSE party. Under the direction of Drew Daubenspeck, station manager; Dan Smith, program director; and Mike Fitzgerald, the chief engineer, WRSE offered varied musical fare, the nightly College-Community hour, "Super Saturday", and sportscasting for each of the various athletic seasons.

The Volunteer Council originated on the Elmhurst campus as a result of the very successful evening of entertainment presented by E.C. students at the U. of Ill. Hospital. The original project was the product of efforts by Brenda Stolze and Nancy Kaszak, and the large-scale project was headed by Brenda and Ann Smurlo. The expanded program includes the Saturday morning tutoring project and work with the DuPage County Mental Health Society, Ray Graham Rehabilitation Center and at the nearby Elmhurst Y.M.C.A.

Jays Break Losing Streak!

Vic Mills throws the perfect pass to an anxious Ted Mosier.

Newcomers dominated both the offensive and defensive line-ups during the 1969 football season as the Bluejays fought back to a 4-4 record with four straight wins at the end of the year. But the leaders in statistics, for the most part, were old-timers. Ted Mosier, a speedy senior halfback, used the patented EC quick pitch to perfection, rambling for 745 yards in 100 carries for a neat 7.45 average gain. He also scored a record-tying ten touchdowns and totaled 62 points. Senior Don Robinson's 14 pass completions netted him a team-leading 291 yards via the airways in a season when no less than ten men attempted passes for the Jays. Chuck Purdom was on the receiving end of 16 of those tosses for 354 yards to reign as the team leader in those departments. On defense, Hammerin' Hank Dembosz accounted for 88 tackles and 92 assists. The senior linebacker led Elmhurst in both areas. Jim Roberts and Jim Evans, a pair of newcomers to the EC scene, intercepted two passes apiece while letterman Steve Filip-ski recovered three opposing team fumbles. A hugh Homecoming crowd witnessed the Bluejays thirteenth consecutive loss, a 28-6 thrashing at the hands of Carthage, the eventual undefeated CCIW champions. From there, co-captains Dembosz and Mike Marsico and the rest of the Jays ripped through four opponents, starting with Albert Lea, 18-7. In that one, Mosier equaled his three-touchdown performance of the losing cause at Carroll. Millikin fell, 32-13, as EC put an end to a string of 32 consecutive CCIW losses dating back to 1957. The Jays' 52-16 clobbering of North Central represented Elmhurst's greatest scoring outburst since 1930. In the final game of the year at North Park, Coach Wendall Harris' wishbone-T attack "snowed" the hosts under, 30-27 for a fitting end to a great comeback season.

E.C.'s Blue Machine finished a winning season in Cross Country with 17 wins and 16 losses. Competing against strong teams, such as North Park, Augustana, and Carthage, the harriers placed 6th out of nine teams at the CCIW Conference Meet in Davenport, Iowa. The big runners for the Blue Machine this year were Jim Dowding and John Hall, who led the squad all season with first and second team places respectively. The team was very well rounded and had a lot of spirit which contributed to their success this season.

Jays Win 10!

Eight returning lettermen were joined by five bright newcomers as the basketball Bluejays fought to a 10-13 record. EC's 5-11 CCIW mark was, however, not good enough to pull them out of a tie for the conference cellar. Jim Peters capped a brilliant career by adding three more honors to his repertoire: EC's Most Valuable Player, CCIW First Team All-Star, and CCIW Free Throw Champion. His 21.7 season's average led the Jays again and he was joined by two others in double figures. Derrik Grove, who was unable to play the second semester, popped in 18.8 points per game and John Froeschner 10.5. Peters also led again in rebounds with 260. Cal Saunders, a freshman, pulled down 228, including a high of 21 against Augustana. Sophomore Jim Brusveen led the Bluejays in assists, handing out 74 passes for baskets during the year. Elmhurst scored at a 73.8 clip, but did allow their opponents to score 74.7 per contest. Peters and Keith Schram were the only seniors on the team, making next year's hopes even brighter.

Wrestlers Cop Third In CCIW

The 1969-70 wrestling season began at a slow pace for E.C., but picked up during January to go on to have the best season in its past thirteen years. Several new school records were set by our guys, along with the first two conference championships captured by Mike Marsico and Hank Marrison. With Greg Hoffenkamp and Mike Marsico ending their wrestling careers at Elmhurst College this year, the team closed its season with confidence of equal success the next season.

Coach Ed Ward's tennis team scrambled to a 10-8 dual meet record and grabbed third place in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin tournament at the season's end. Bob Shannon capped a fine 17-4 singles season with a first place finish in the CCIW affair. He and his doubles partner, Jim Kreutzer accounted for many of EC's points throughout the spring. Shannon was 12-9 in doubles play while Kreutzer notched a 13-8 mark in such action. Chuck Radulski managed a 9-4 singles mark as the Jays' number three player. Second to Shannon's 17 wins was Rich Hotz, who garnered 10 wins to offset 11 losses during the campaign.

Returning lettermen Bill Whiston, Craig Smith, Randy Riley, and Craig Mernitz along with some newcomers, managed to squeeze by Carthage and rout Lake Forest during the 1970 season. Five golfers qualified for the CCIW meet, resulting in an eighth place finish for the Jays, out of nine places. The linkmen's total strokes of 672 was not enough for a high finish. At the meet, Craig Arend shot a two-round total of 160; second best for EC was Pete Drogos with 164 followed by Paul Wukasch with 173. Despite the disappointing finish in the CCIW, the Jays posed their best record in recent years, boasting a 5-3 dual meet record. Most valuable player for the campaign was Sophomore Pete Drogos.

Baseball Team Ranks Fifth

Riding the strong right arm of Jim Roberts, the baseball Bluejays rang up a fifteen win season. Elmhurst dropped ten contests during the spring, including nine losses in their sixteen-game CCIW schedule. The Jays' 7-9 league mark left them in a fifth place tie in the nine-team conference. Roberts led EC in seven pitching departments. He allowed only five earned runs to cross the plate during 73  $\frac{2}{3}$  innings of work for a remarkable 0.63 earned run average. He started and completed nine games while racking up 67 strike outs. His six wins led the staff, although junior Rick Leonhardt had the best winning percentage with his 4-0 record. Senior Dave Victor ran second to Roberts in innings pitched, ERA (2.18), strike outs (40), starts (7), and complete games with six.

Another good pitching job results in a strike out!

Thanks to fast action by catcher Larry Reynolds, an opposing team runner is out at home.

Roberts also led in seven hitting departments, topping the team in at bats (80), hits (19), runs (14), doubles (3), triples (2), home runs (2), and total bases (32). Chuck Purdom copped the batting title with a .310 average and led the Bluejays with a .404 slugging percentage. The junior outfielder injured his leg with  $\frac{1}{3}$  of the season remaining. The only other player to lead in two areas was Bob Miller. His 23 walks and 42 times on base gave him the lead in those phases of the game. The Jays regular catcher, John Chvatal, led the team in stolen bases. Freshman Joe Siemianowski drove home 13 teammates, leading EC in RBIs. Also, his 18 hits gave him a close second to Roberts. Skip Haak tied Roberts for the lead in triples with three. Coach Jon Hawthorne's club loses only two members, co-captains Dave Victor and John Canata from this year's cast.

We Don't Mess Around — Hey !!

Let's have a "V" for victory, Jays!!

The cheerleaders put in many long hours of practice throughout the entire football and basketball seasons in an attempt to look their best. Working to solve the problems of creating an enthusiastic school body, they tried their hardest to stimulate spirit at the games. Their new uniforms enhanced their appearance on the court and with cries of "We don't Mess Around" this year's squad cheered the Jays on to many a victory.

Interest ran high in this year's Intramural programs. Under the direction of Athletic Life Chairman Harry Bucy, the IM program consisted of flag football, basketball, volleyball, and softball. The big winners were Praetors in football, Playground in basketball, and faculty in volleyball. In the women's division, headed by Debbie Krauth, BLOC was the champ in basketball and volleyball. The E.C. Athletic Life Committee also sponsored busses to away games as well as excursions, enabling fans to see the Chicago Bulls and big name teams, such as Duquesne vs. Notre Dame and Loyola Ramblers vs. the UCLA Bruins.

The women's Tennis team completed a successful season competing against teams from throughout the state. Starring as E.C.'s exceptional talent on the court, Charlotte Scott took second place at the Chicago Circle Campus Invitation Sectional Meet and reached the quarter finals at the Millikin University Invitation. Competition in the latter contest included 100 girls from 20 colleges in Illinois, in girls from twenty colleges and universities in Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa.

The opening of the new decade also opened a new chapter in the lives of the class of 1970. For the survivors of the freshman class of 1966 and others who have joined the class through the four years since, the Elmhurst experience can be summarized as a source of fond memories as well as a preparation for future careers, educational pursuits and a personalized life-style.

I'd like to thank the Elms staff, and the many photographers who made this book what it is. I'd particularly like to thank my staff for the birthday party and the cake. It made this job well worthwhile. I'd also like to thank Al Tronsen, our head copy writer, Mark Buck, who wrote the opening section copy, and Keith Schram without whom the sports section would be very inadequate.

Sincerely,
 Marilyn Hinchley, Editor
